

Lazy just got smarter.

"Checking email is SUCH a chore!"

"Took me 2 hours to read that paper..."

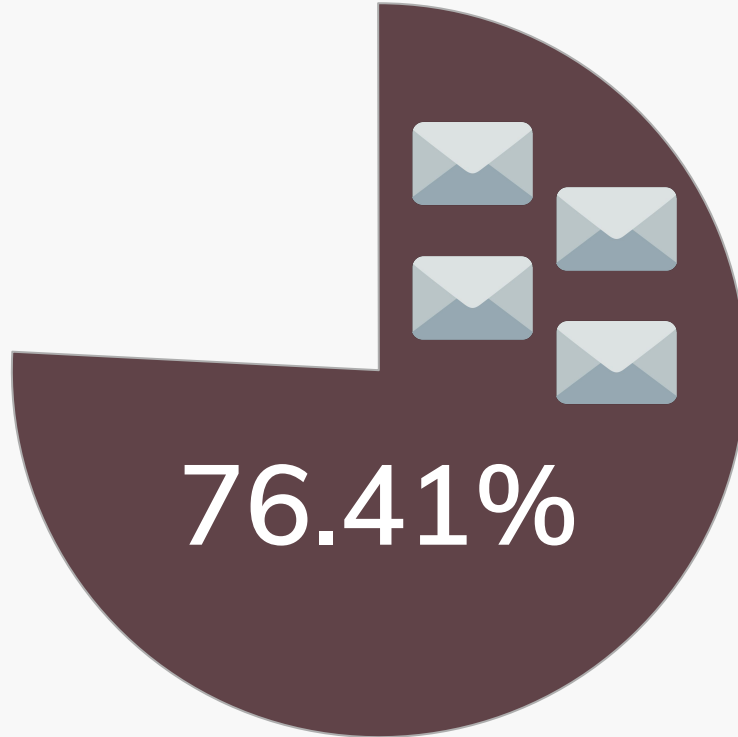

"Oops, accidentally double-booked lunch!"

We waste too much time.

Being productive is now unproductive.

Everyone

We surveyed over 1000 business professionals and found that 76.41% wish email was easier to manage.

Aiko: a do-it-all
assistant that'll sweat
the small stuff for you.

Fully manage the user's needs

While other assistants fall short in simple scheduling, Aiko delivers a wide array of features.

John Appleseed wants to grab coffee and talk--you have 30 minutes open at 2pm, should I book for the local Starbucks?

busy--do tomorrow sometime

Alright, I'll reply with tomorrow at 1:30pm.

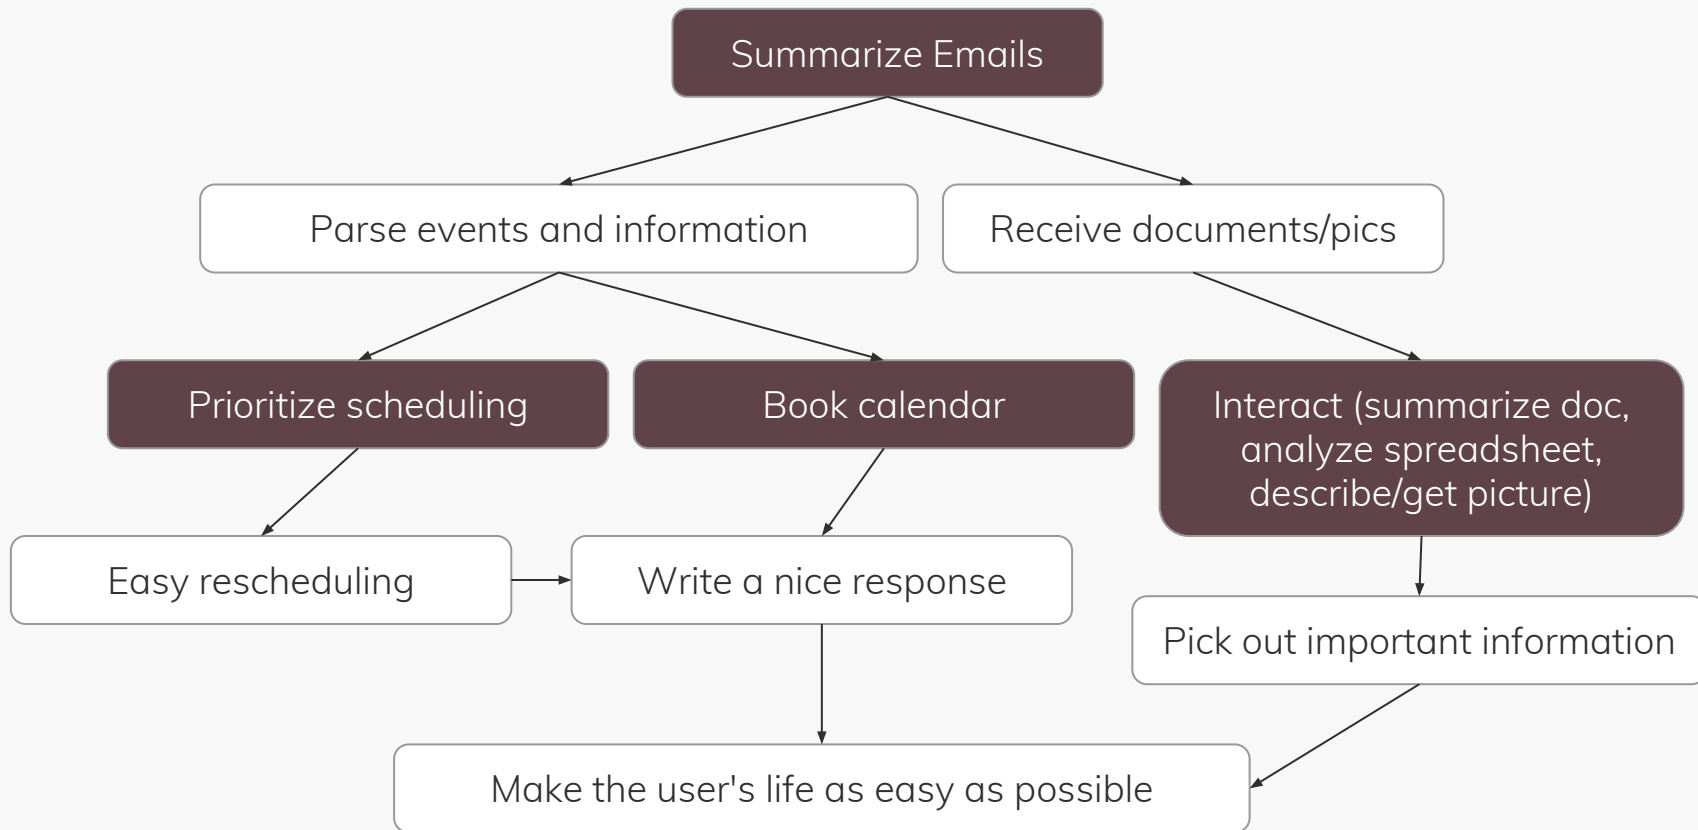

sounds good, thanks 🙏

Glad to help!

Aiko goes the extra mile.

First Batch of Features

Monetization Plan

Trial Period - Free

We plan to launch without monetization, allowing our average user up to 7 days on the trial tier. During this period they can give Aiko a dry run and see if it meets their needs as a full-fledged assistant.

Individual - $10/mo

The Individual tier covers basic/essential features such as summarization, inference and intent analysis, providing a rich experience. The user can naturally converse with Aiko, who will schedule and summarize emails.

Professional - $40/mo

The Professional tier is aimed at high consumption users who would benefit from the heavier features. This includes document summarization, quick analysis and other improvements to the assistant experience.

Enterprise - Quoted

Enterprise-level plans cover an entire business, providing a Professional tier experience to all users. Priced per user, this provides a richer experience across the entire organization and integrates with third-party apps.
